GAUNTLET

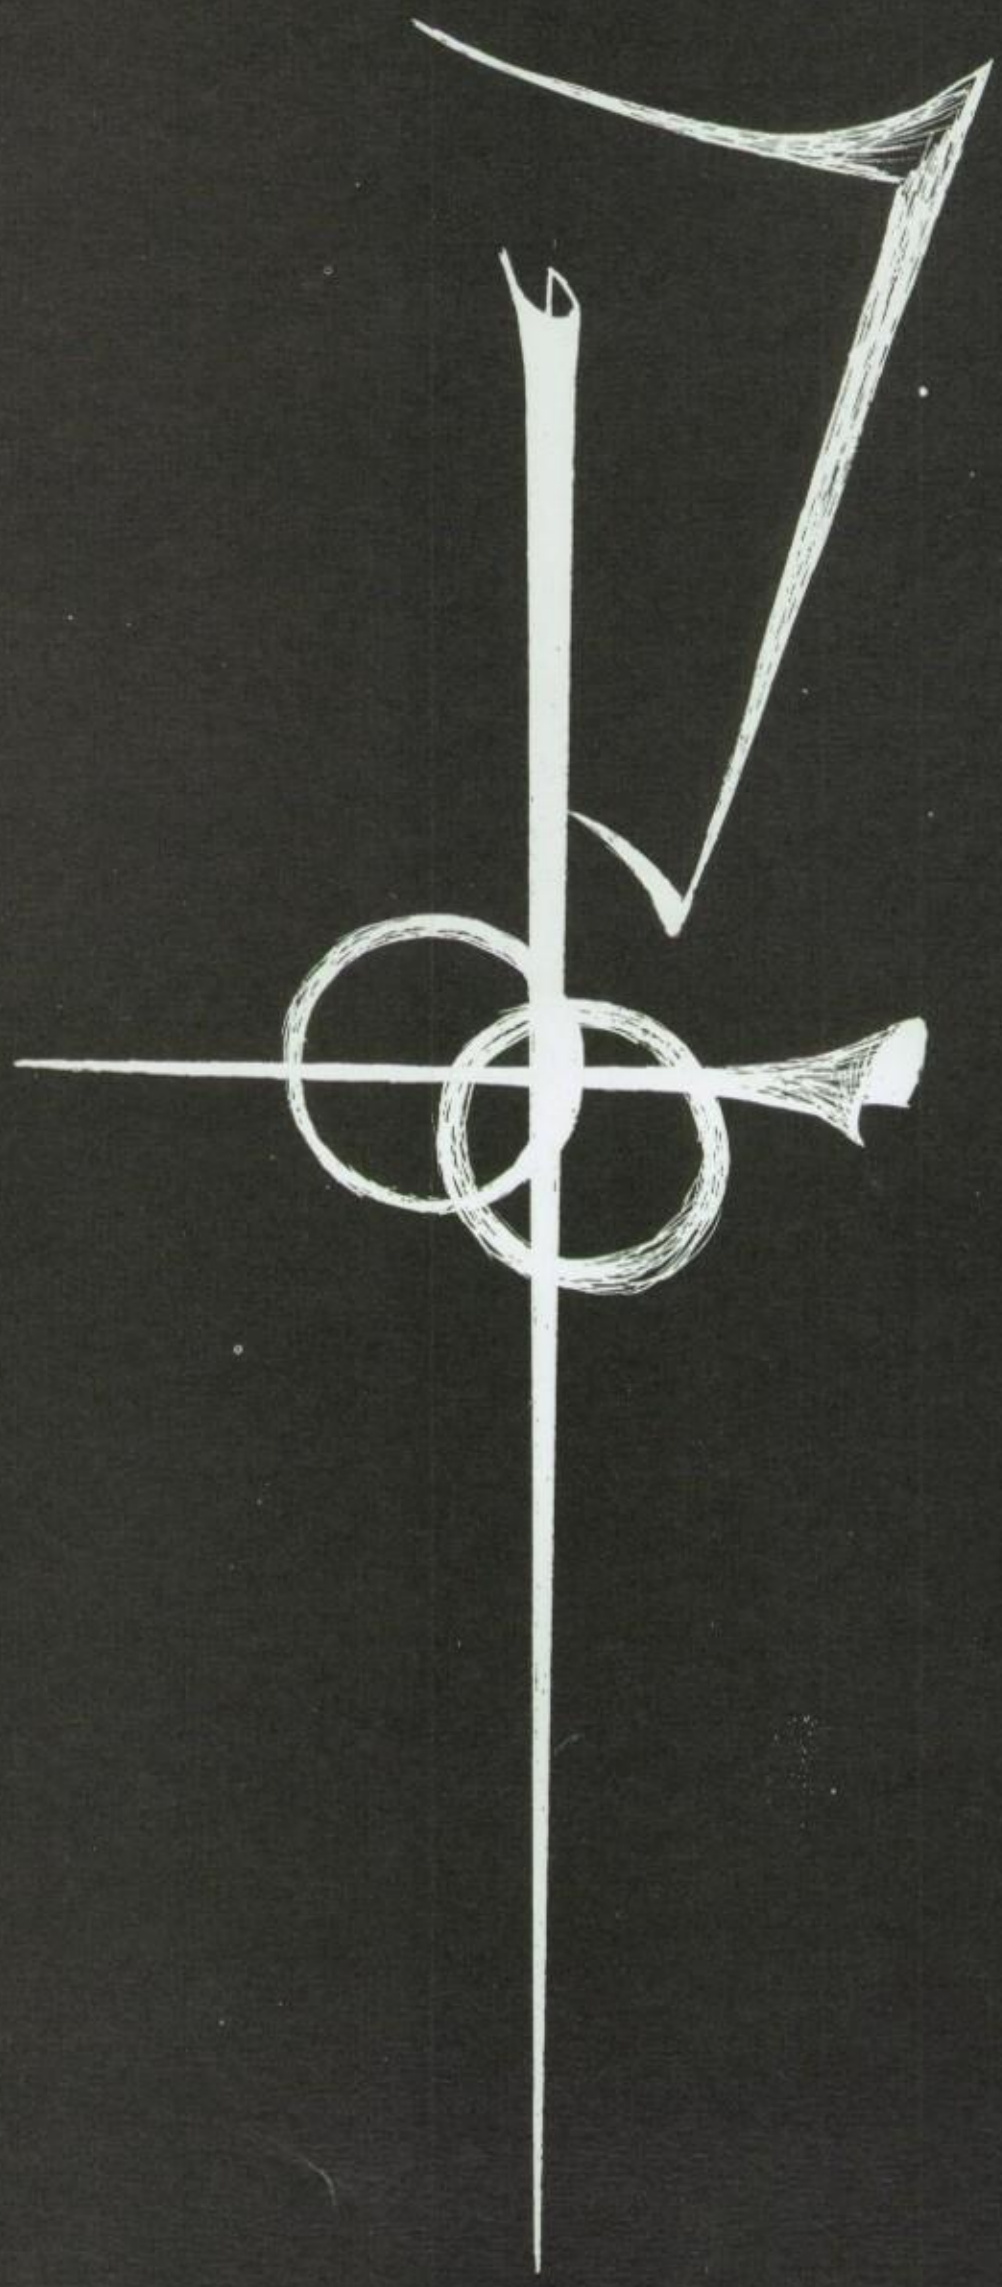
1964



Albertus Magnus High School
Route 304 & Germonds Road
Bardonia, New York
P. O. Box 639

Dear Parents,

It is with gratitude that we address you. We are grateful, not only for the fortitude and forbearance which you have exhibited in your many unselfish sacrifices for our benefit, but also for your intense and unswerving interest in our smallest ventures. This has spurred us to seek goals beyond those of our predecessors. Your support is our impetus, the force which sustains our forward motion. Our hopes are that we may justify your labors and that we may surpass your hopes in us.

In such a tone, we present this work as a representation of the happiest years in our lives, years filled with hopes, trials and achievement. May you, in perusing this yearbook, take your rightful share of the memories, reflections and warmth of which it is composed as a small token of payment on the eternal debt due to you.

With love,

The Class of 1964

"Peace through Understanding," the motto of the 1964 World's Fair, is the noble aspiration of the great nations participating in the exhibition. While we of the Senior Class have as yet no claim to greatness, we resolve, through our future efforts, to make this aspiration a reality.

In the short span of our lives, we are fortunate to have been blessed with a great and noble leader, whose prime goal was the achievement of peace through understanding. It is fitting that the memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy be associated with this worthy theme for which he gave his life.

Remembering his valor and his pleasure with international cooperation, we hope that our future efforts will honor his memory. May our actions always be pleasing to Christ, and reflect upon His glory, as He sees His graduates of '64 striving to foster peace through understanding, a truly Christian ideal.

Underclassmen	100

As we, the Class of 1964, prepare to depart from Albertus Magnus High School, we glance back over the four years we have spent here. All around us we have seen the fulfillment of a dream which was conceived many years ago in the heart and mind of Mother Mary Kevin: a desire to bring secondary Catholic education into the heart of Rockland County.

All we have achieved is in some way the result of Mother Kevin's devotion and effort. Our physical, intellectual, spiritual and moral development, that is, our character itself, has been constructed on strong Christian concepts and ideals which we have had instilled in us here at Albertus Magnus.

Now, as we are about to leave, we wish to express in some small way the gratitude and appreciation which we hold for you, Mother Kevin. Yet, in a sense, words are not appropriate; only in our actions during our lifetime can we express our heartfelt thanks to you.

8 great Seniors in the great outdoors.

That's right, Operator, B-A-R-D-O-N-I-A.

Will the real John DeBarbieri please stand up?

Psstt, Sandy -- you're standing on my toe.

Can the jokes, Frank. Just take the picture.

But, Sister, fresh air is just as important as French Class!

To aim at the highest possible excellence is the first step in a good education.

JUNIOR VARSITY

Father Reilly's boys have done it again! A.M.'s Junior Varsity finished a successful basketball season with a 16-2 record of victories and defeats. Paced by Dan Cardwell, Ed Schwab, Bob Unnold, and George Quinn, the squad made an impressive showing, as they downed all but two league foes. Continued success in your varsity endeavors!

FRESHMAN

Blending individuals of varied skills to form a successful team of unified efforts is a skill common to all A.M. coaches, but especially to Freshman ones. Coach Shea and his Freshman Falcons have learned from their victories as well as their defeats, and deserve sincere congratulations and best wishes for future victories.

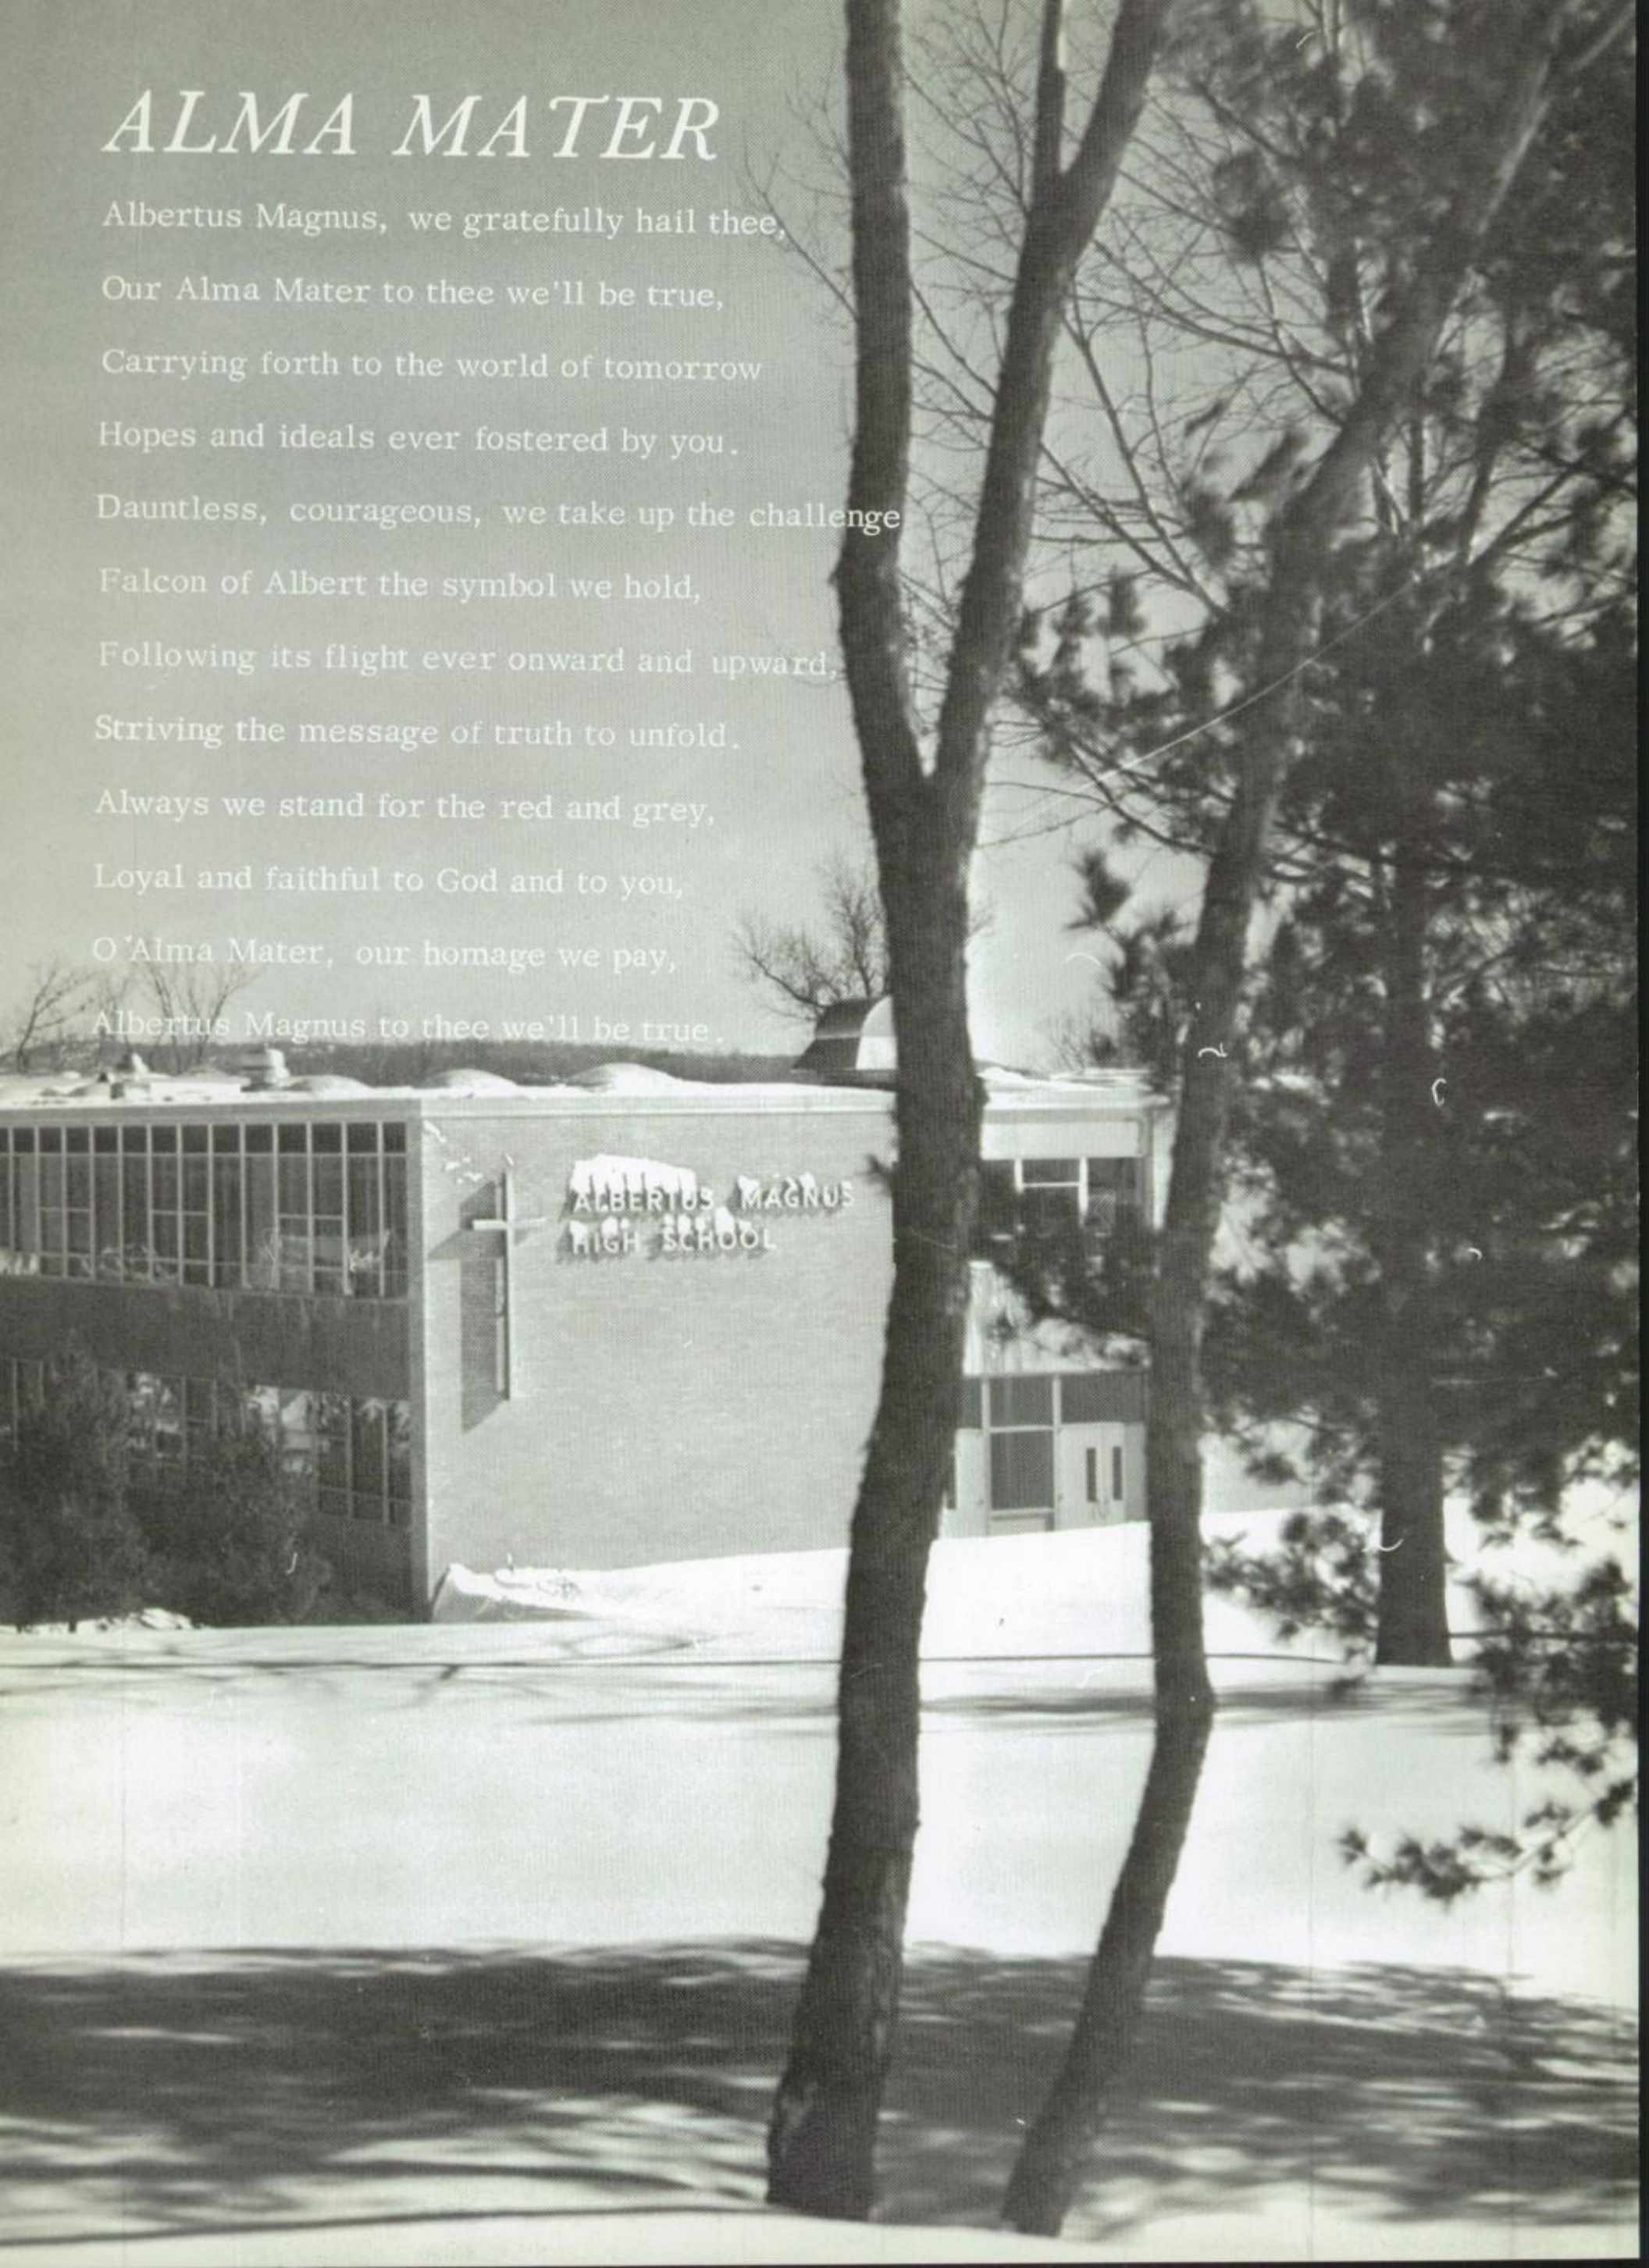
ALMA MATER

Albertus Magnus, we gratefully hail thee,
Our Alma Mater to thee we'll be true,
Carrying forth to the world of tomorrow
Hopes and ideals ever fostered by you.
Dauntless, courageous, we take up the challenge
Falcon of Albert the symbol we hold,
Following its flight ever onward and upward,
Striving the message of truth to unfold.
Always we stand for the red and grey,
Loyal and faithful to God and to you,
O'Alma Mater, our homage we pay,
Albertus Magnus to thee we'll be true.



Hail and Farewell

On a rainy September morning in 1960, I stood amused and silent as 200 giggling, gangling children entered these portals, tripping over planks, puddles and each other. Just as these young minds were to be molded, so also was I. Apprehensively, I followed the high-pitched little voices that tried so valiantly to be gay. This was the beginning of an experiment that was to be a source of total amazement, much happiness and rare disappointment to me in the ensuing four years. For I have witnessed the evolution of a Senior Class.

As I stood by unperceived, yesterday's gawky freshmen have become today's poised Seniors. In the springtime of their lives, they have shed the coat of childness for the mantle of maturity. The process has been a challenging, tedious one. They have a right to feel pride in their accomplishments, but they have not earned this privilege totally on their own merits. I have been with them for every moment, in every activity, through every crisis.

At the hands of the Sculptor, I have become their tears and laughter, their hopes and fears, their dreams and desires. I am their happy anticipation of basketball games, their carefree pleasure at bazaars. I am the eager spirit of the boys on the court, on the track, or on the diamond, and the echoing voice of the spirited girls who cheer them.

I am the Gaelic charm which induces Seniors to march for St. Patrick's Day. I am the inspiration for the thespians among them.

I am the camaraderie of the yearbook staff, as a few familiar heads bend over the tasks, diligent in their efforts. I am the leadership with which Senior officers guide their classes and their clubs. I am the quiet joy in their individual triumphs -- their scholarships, their scientific and journalistic achievements.

I am the tears shed for the once monumental things which now seem trivial.

I am the flowers, the ticket-stubs, the streamers and pictures which they so rightfully cherish as invaluable possessions. Who can place a price tag on memories?

And now, I am the bearer of a paradoxically happy sadness. Society demands that the young men and women of whom I am a part must walk on, diploma in hand, to world of new tomorrows. "The torch has been passed," John F. Kennedy said, "to a new generation of Americans." The Class of 1964 is that new generation -- young people of promise and purpose.

Perhaps, in some future time, they will return to the walls wherein they sought education, attempting to recapture the intangible past. But I am exiled now, and they will not find the spirit they once knew to exist there. For I am the essence of the Class of '64 and I must spur them on to new endeavors -- to think fondly of the past but to live zealously for the future.

They leave to Albertus Magnus their gratitude to its unselfish faculty and sincere best wishes to their underclassmen. But they carry with them the aim that their mentors would wish -- the aim of the late President Kennedy. Their present and future dedication is fostered by the realization that "here on earth, God's work must truly be our own."

Marie,
Best of luck in whatever you do and remember I will never forget you and all you have done for me.
Love,
Mary

Marie,
Don't ever forget the fun we had in Biology Lab.
I hope next year we're in the same class. Remember all the cookies you swiped for me.
Lots of Luck.
Always
Sue Ann

Marie,
Lots of Luck in Your future Years
Love Mike

Marie,
Stay the sweet girl that you are + please
don't forget the class of 66 and me. Have fun this summer + take care of whoever you'll be going
with this summer!
Lots of Love,
Kathy

Xero,
don't let any petty
quarrels get you down
You have one but I have 3
so you have better odds.
Don't give up.
